

Comparison of 'Politics' and 'Administration'

Parithimathi

Governance is of the people, for the people and by the people. There is need to understand by laymen what is politics and what is administration . A few points are highlighted as a thought process.

No.	Politics	Administration
1.	Anyone can do if that attitude exists	1. Only with some basic quality, a true administrator is created
2.	Mostly no ability necessary to survive by doing politics routinely	2. Progress could be seen if there is efficiency
3.	Persons not keen about long term vision	3. 'Vision' is one of the things which some leaders possess.
4.	Unintentional inputs create disaster	4. Un-intentional inputs there is no scope
5.	Casual approach in general	5. Formal approach always necessary
6.	Bulk of the people involve spontaneously	6. Selected groups only are administered
7.	No legitimate inputs	7. Mostly legitimate inputs
8.	Maturity is not mandatory	8. Maturity is mandatory to systems
9.	Politics may lead to administrative power	9. Administration does not promote politics
10.	Planning is not compulsorily required	10. Pro-Active Need always built in
11.	Lot of loss seen on long run by wrong immature humans	11. In system, inflicted damage not possible
12.	Anyone can do politics in any group	12. Administration is only in organization
13.	Infrastructure and inputs not required, because this is mind process	13. A system is required to administer.
14.	Good administration brings out a nice political outcome.	14. Good politics also not to be entertained in the administration.
15.	Sensational Inputs commonly seen.	15. No room for sensational input. If this is observed, that should not be entertained.
16.	Go by existing wave of mind ideas. Trend will be seen on different periods of time.	16. Style of functioning can fit in a model. Progress is predictable.
17.	No planned strategies exist	17. Planning strategies lead to algorithms.
18.	Effect of people's culture present	18. Scope of Least effect of cultures.
19.	Discipline and code of conduct not prescribable, and mostly do not exist	19. Unwritten/written code of conducts built in the systems.
20.	Human race can live without politics	20. Human race or any system needs administration.
21.	Anyone can interfere/poke nose even if there is no requirement.	21. Will be moderated, and agendas should be planned in administration.
22.	No involvement of fixed resources, but unlawful resources possible. Accountability is seldom compulsory.	22. Administration starts with the need for management of resources mostly. Audits become compulsory.
23.	Good humans cannot tolerate at one point of time, because of torture from bulk.	23. Legally questionable action, nothing go hidden as torture, in a system.
